

Let's talk about Feast For 10

By Cathryn Falwell

This book shows a family doing everyday activities. Everyone is helping with the routines of bringing home the food from the grocery store, cooking and eating together. One of the principles for reading with your deaf child offered by the Le Clerc Centre's Shared Reading Project is to "keep both languages visible (ASL and English)." As you enjoy the book with your child sit so that your child can see you and the book. You can point to the English words you are signing as you read together.

Does your child enjoy grocery shopping? Do you spend time cooking together? Older children will be able to count the items on each page to match the numbers. Putting the groceries away can be a math activity for the whole family! Which items go together? All the fruit goes in the fruit bin in the fridge. Will it all fit?

Let's Play Together

Materials:

cheese, turkey or chicken, bread, cookie cutters

Let your child make his own sandwich by using a cookie cutter to cut out different shapes from the bread, cheese and meat! You will be surprised how his appetite picks up when he helps make his own food!
